FINANCE AND TRADE.

FINANCIAL MATTERS are too quiet for much development of the influences by which they are affected, but the continuing rains and the rising rivers are strongly affecting them. Moneyed men | boxes, 1710; quarter boxes, 18c. are watching events with great attention; the loss of crops in Europe will bring a heavy demand here, but if a large proportion of our own crops are swept away, how will prices be affected, and with them the whole volume of foreign trade? The New York Bulletin. "When it becomes fully understood across the Atlantic that the American crops have suffered to an almost equal extent, we can hardly fail to witness a renewal of the excitement in the wheat market. It is impossible to doubt that a great deal of grain will be destroyed on both sides the Atlantic, and that a still larger quantity will be gathered in bad condition, so that we may anticipate the double misfortune of dear bread and bad bread." In manufactures wages are decreasing—with dear bread and low wages, the prospect is far from the smiling cheerfulness of a month ago. Gold quoted in New York at noon yesterday at 113%, quite a bound from the 112% at the close of the preceding Saturday. The change is attributed to large exports of gold. At the opening of July gold quoted 1174, by the 23d it was down to 111; it is now on its way unward again. Nothing of interest is taking place in local securities, and we quote Shelby county serip at 756 77; fire and police at 876688; school notes 90; State notes 870989; Bank of Tennessee, new issue, 20. Some days previous, however, settlements for a considerable hould be further unfavorable circum- active and higher, 13,70%13 75c seller stances of weather, and other circumstances contributing, another 'squeeze' of seilers for August may ensue. A large margin of profit and of loss can be discerned in the possibility of prices to which No. 2 can be pushed with the lly true that the damage inflicted upon the wheat by the persistent rains will very much reduce the supply of No. 2 grade of winter, but the prevalence of the weather of the two past days will steam. Bulk meats quiet and firm at 9, naure an abundance of lower grades." The Chicago Tribune of the same day reports: "There were a good many buying orders in early, nearly all for Sep-tember, and the market advanced rapidly while those were filled. But it was discovered nobody wanted cash wheat. There was no shipping demand, and espitalists did not want it to carry into next month, there being no profit in the operation. This turned the tide. Operators for the future being anxious sellers, and though the September option weakened fast, cash wheat declined still faster, being at one time discounted fully to per bushel, a circumstance which has not been paralleled at this date for many years past. The situation in Europe seems to be that they have a good demand for the wheat now there, but do not care to order more from this side of the Atlantic till the present excitement has cooled down, as dealers there think western mices have been run up to a higher point than is warranted by the circumstances. They will probably take little more until they

Our associated press dispatches yesterday report the river failing at Cincinnati. This looks like the long lane is making its turn.

The river is rising at the rate of about three inches per day. Above we print the official table of the signal service bureau giving the stage of water and rise during the past twenty-four hours. We give place to a communication from a correspondent on board the steamer James D. St. Francis tiver is crawling up in the effort to keep company with the other streams. She receives her stimulus from the overflow from the Mississippi above Madrid bend, where the water is reported rushing through the "Sunk Land" district with tremendous current. Several persons attempted to "time" the Illinois yesterday evening, between ing that she was out of sight in six and a ball and others in six and three-quarter minutes-each swearing by his time-piece. Several bets are pending as to the time, but we have not heard how it is going to be decided. The G. W. Cucek pulls out for Napoleon this evening. Captain Green, appreciating the anxiety among the planters below here, will delay the departure of the Cheek an hour, so as to get the latest reports issued especially from the signal service bureau and kindly furnished by Sengeant Ludwig, in charge of the department.

The reported ten and a half feet rise at Paducah Thursday proves a mistake, growing out of the fact that Paducah being only a temporary station in the Signal service, the man in charge is a you that hopcodence, causing premained it. in the details of the bureau. packet company, and was president of that company two terms. His health commenced falling about a year ago, and he scent a short time at Her Springs, Arkansas, returning to St. Louis apparently much improved, and stiended regularly to his Lusiness until his sudden death Wednesday morning. A new boat is building at Dyccoburg to run between that port and Holle's Point. She will be 100 feet long. Is feet . beam, and 5 feet hold. It is impossible to arrive at a pliable estimate of the damages doing by the river below here: In consequence of which we refrain from reproducing the wild rumors one hears from Tom, Dick and Harry, who know nothing about the real condition of affairs below. Our information from reliable sources-the officers of our local packets-is that as yet no serious damage has been experienced. True, some localities have suffered to a certain extent, but in the main they are to what is known as "outside" planters—that is, to finide outside of the levees, always cultivated on a risk. The farmers are leaving nothing undone that will serve to strengthen their levess, and it is generally stated that twelve inches more water will not do any great damage. Beyond this we have learned nothing of interest from below. The next falling, with 9 feet 3 inches water in four days will tell the story of our fate. An immense crowd of ladies and ger tlemen, on foot and in carriages, gathered on the bluffs yester by evening to get a view of the majestic river, at high stationary, with 55 feet 6 inches water in | tide, and witness the departure of the packets. While there the Grand Tower moved gracefully down to the elevator, at the same time the Illinois had gone up to the point, rounded to, and made a beautiful run past the city, her colors flying, and her band warbling furth is clear and warm: River rising, with 45 sweetest strains, and the waving of handkerchiefs and shouts of appliau e gave evidence that the vast assemblage partook of the immense enthusiasm. After the Illinois had nearly disappeared benind the point the Quickstep le' loose from her moorings, and moved gracefully out and down the stream like a beautiful bird bathing its plumage in the iashing waves. Before leaving the band of the Illinois performed several sele tions in a creditable manner to the delight of the multitude. Both the Quickstep and Illinois are Memphis institulons of which we, in common with the Memphis public, feel exceedingly proud; Roal Estato. and we noticed that each had a good trip of passongers. The Evansviile Journal gives the fol-

man on the Arkansas Belle: "At Elizabellitown on her way down, a crazy man boarded the Belle and went to Rose Clare. He soon disclosed his maiady, declaring that he was sent by Jesus Christ to save the world, and, by God, he was going to do it. He commanded that no one should touch him. He mounted to the roof and ordered Joe Farquhar, the mais, to back ker out.' He then started to the pilothouse, but Bill Luty closed the door lowing account of the antice of a crazy
